The libretto and music of The Mikado are in the public domain.

The Preface, Introduction, and Appendices are the editor's original work, but these may be freely shared according to the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International license, <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/4.0/>.

This score reduction was made possible through the kind cooperation of Marc Shepherd, who made the Dorico source of his Mikado score available to me.

There are two reductions appropriate for groups with limited space or funds: one for 11 players and one for 17 players. In both cases the reductions are essentially reducing the number of players to one on a part and combining the Flute and Piccolo parts for a single player.

The 11-player version consists of Flute/Piccolo, Oboe, Clarinet, Bassoon, Horn, Cornet, Trombone, Violin I, Viola, Bass and Percussion.

The 17-player version adds a second Clarinet, Violin II, and Cello, and 3 additional string players.

A full score would add a 2nd Flute doubling on Piccolo, and 2nd Horns, Cornets and Trombones, as well as additional string players.

Throughout, Shepherd has elected to write out each verse of a song without repeats, which greatly improves readability.

In addition, all Horn parts have been transposed to Horn in F.

Overture: There are two options a measure 72. The most common one in existing band parts is to add a measure for a flute solo. Thus there are two measures number 72: 72a and 72b(the added measure).

In mm 110-116, Sullivan wrote Trombone 2 on beats 1 and 3 and Trombone 1 on beats 2 and 4. This is compressed to stem down and stem up for the single trombone player.

In mm 193-199, the cello part is duplicated in the viola line.

#1 - If you want to know: There is a suggested word change in measure 71. “Puppeteer’s” for “Japanese.”

#8 – So please you sir: This was originally written as a quintet, including both Pish-Tush and Pooh-Bah, but when Pish-Tush players didn’t have the requisite range, Pish-Tush was dropped and Pooh-Bah sang the entire quartet. Here Pish-Tush is included but you can include him or not.

#10- I am so proud: In mm 44-54, Sullivan has the violin accompaniment phrase go back and forth between Vln I and Vln II. Here we provide an ossia alternative where the entire phrase is in Vln I.

#12- Braid the maiden hair: Suggested word change in Yum-Yum’s speech: “artless feminine way” instead of “artless Japanese way.”

#20- The flowers that bloom: In mm 17-29 and mm 45-48, the viola part doubles the cello, which is absent in the 11 player version.

Again, this score is entirely Shepherd’s work, and I am very grateful for his making it available to me.

Detailed description: This is a musical score for a chorus. It consists of two systems. The first system (measures 111-116) features a vocal line for Tenor (T) and Bass (B) and a piano accompaniment (Pno). The vocal parts sing the lyrics 'fan, On ma - ny, ma - ny, ma - ny, ma - ny, ma - ny, ma - ny, ma - ny a jar, Oh!_'. The piano accompaniment has a rhythmic pattern of eighth notes in the right hand and chords in the left hand, with dynamic markings fz (forzando) repeated. The second system (measures 117-122) continues the vocal line with 'oh! oh! oh! On'. The piano accompaniment continues with similar rhythmic patterns, including dynamic markings sf (sforzando) and 8va (octave up) in the right hand.

Enter NANKI-POO in great excitement. He carries a native guitar on his back and a bundle of ballads in his hand.

The musical score is written for a Chorus (Tenor and Bass) and Piano accompaniment. The key signature is one sharp (F#). The Chorus part consists of two staves, Tenor (T) and Bass (B), with lyrics underneath. The Piano part is written for a grand piano (Pno) with two staves. The score is divided into four systems. The first system (measures 125-130) shows the Chorus singing 'vase and jar, On screen and fan.' with a piano accompaniment of eighth notes. The second system (measures 131-136) features a piano accompaniment of eighth notes with a forte (fz) dynamic and a 'sempre ff' (sempre fortissimo) instruction. The third system (measures 137-142) continues the piano accompaniment. The fourth system (measures 143-148) features a piano accompaniment of eighth notes with a forte (fz) dynamic and a 'sempre ff' instruction. The score concludes with a final measure (148) and a double bar line.

The musical score is written for three parts: Nanki (soprano), Chorus Baritone (baritone), and Piano (piano). The key signature is B-flat major (two flats). The tempo and mood are indicated as 'Allegretto pesante non troppo vivo' with a metronome marking of 120 beats per minute. The score is divided into three systems. The first system (measures 58-60) features Nanki singing 'trem - bled Be - fore the migh - ty troops, the troops of Ti - ti - pu!' and the Chorus Baritone singing 'We should - n't be sur - pris'd if'. The piano accompaniment consists of a steady eighth-note pattern in the right hand and a similar pattern in the left hand, with a forte (f) dynamic. The second system (measures 61-62) features the Chorus Baritone singing 'na - tions trem - bled, trem - bled with a - larm Be - fore the migh - ty'. The piano accompaniment continues with the same eighth-note pattern, with a fortissimo (ff) dynamic. The third system (measures 63-65) features Nanki singing 'And if you call for a' and the Chorus Baritone singing 'troops the troops of Ti - ti - pu!'. The piano accompaniment changes to a 2/4 time signature and features a triplet of eighth notes in the right hand, followed by a forte (f) dynamic, then a decrescendo (dim.) and a mezzo-piano (mp) dynamic.

The musical score is written for a vocal ensemble and piano. It begins at measure 88. The vocal parts (Yum, Peep, Pitti, Pish, Pooh) are in treble clef with a key signature of one sharp (F#). They sing in unison: "girl - hood's hap-py spring, Be hard on us." Pish and Pooh then sing a melodic line: "la, Tra la la la la la, Tra la la la la la la!". The Chorus consists of Soprano (S.) and Alto (A.) voices, who enter in measure 94 with the lyrics "But youth, of course, must have its fling, so". The piano accompaniment (Pno) is in treble and bass clef, providing harmonic support with chords and moving lines, marked with a forte (f) dynamic.

The musical score is for a scene with five vocal soloists (Yum, Peep, Pitti, Pish, Pooh) and a Chorus (Soprano and Alto). They all perform a similar melody of 'la la, Tra la la la la' with varying rhythmic patterns. The piano accompaniment consists of two systems. The first system, starting at measure 100, features a rhythmic pattern of eighth and sixteenth notes in the right hand and a simpler bass line in the left hand, marked fz (forzando). The second system, starting at measure 106, features a more complex, flowing melody in the right hand and a supporting bass line in the left hand, marked f (forte).

Pno

The piano accompaniment consists of two staves, Treble and Bass, with a key signature of one sharp (F#). Measure 114 begins with a treble staff chord of F#4, A4, and C5, and a bass staff quarter note of F#2. Both staves have a fermata over the measure. Measure 115 features a treble staff chord of F#4, A4, and C5, and a bass staff quarter note of F#2. Both staves have a fermata over the measure. Measure 116 contains whole rests on both staves. The piece concludes with a double bar line at the end of measure 116.

Pno

The musical score is for a piece titled "15. Here's a How-de-do" on page 179. It begins at measure 92 with the instruction "(Exit YUM-YUM.)". The score is written for two parts: "Yum" and "Pno" (Piano). The "Yum" part is in a single staff with a treble clef and a key signature of three sharps (F#, C#, G#). It contains two measures, each with a whole rest. The "Pno" part is in a grand staff (treble and bass clefs) with the same key signature. The first measure consists of a series of eighth notes in the bass line and chords in the treble. The second measure features a half note in the bass line, a half note in the treble, and a fermata over the final chord. The piece concludes with a double bar line.
